INDEX 1980

Every year at this time WIN goes out of its way to help all the FBI and police agents who read WIN, as well as librarians, historians and even a few regular WIN readers. With this index you will see at a glance every article which has appeared in WIN during 1980. It will be obvious what we have covered in depth and what we have overlooked.

By going biweekly, the total number of pages in WIN has been reduced by about 25% (from approximately 1032 to approximately 756 per year). While this has caused a reduction in the total number of articles published, there has been an increase in the number of longer and more analytical articles.

Some consistencies and some shifts in WIN's coverage become clear when looking at this index. For example, there are still many articles on nuclear weapons and nuclear power. There is also the addition of articles on electoral politics. Other areas might have suffered a paucity of articles.

As usual, all articles are indexed by author(s) and subject(s). The subject headings are rather arbitrary, so if you don't find what you are looking for, try another heading. Like many WIN readers, I especially value the debates in the letters column on electoral politics, abortion and human rights in Vietnam. Unfortunately, it would be too unwieldy to inclued all the letters, Changes and are in the annual WIN index.
